

JIMTOWN STORE

Healdsburg, CA
Proprietors: Carrie Brown
and John Werner

This couple adores all that is vintage—from cookbooks to linens. So they fell in love with Jimtown, a general store and post office from the 1890's, turning it into a fun place to stop on wine-country road trips.

Husband and wife sell nostalgic candy, toys, and antiques—plus muffins, Brie with olive-salad sandwiches, and lemon sugar cookies. "Our customers want big cookies, which we keep in big jars," says Brown. What else do folks want? Classics and comfort foods, like BLTs and chocolate pudding.

Kitsch and kitchen meet at the Jimtown Store. John Werner's and Carrie Brown's specialties include sautéed potatoes with corn, deviled eggs, and bourbon-marinated steak.
